Visit  Lincoln

1. APLEY, St Andrew's

Opening Times: 1st Sunday every month for service

St Andrew's built in 1871 is set in a large tranquil Churchyard. It looks like an ordinary church on the outside, but is a quaint, well-kept little gem. The Harmonium, which can be played, is a must see. Services held once a month.

Denomination: Church of England

LN8 5JQ

2. BARDNEY, St Lawrence

Opening Times: 8am - 6pm

A stone-built church with a brick chancel built about 1430. The church has close associations with Bardney Abbey, a Benedictine monastery founded in 697 by King Ethelred of Mercia.

Denomination: Church of England

LN3 5TZ

3. BURLINGS, St Edward the Confessor

Opening Times: All day, everyday

A Grade II listed building mentioned in the Domesday book in 1086. The older part of the building is Norman, however, there was a major rebuilding of the nave and chancel in 1876 by Charles Kirk Jr, an architect and partner in the architectural and civil engineering firm of Kirk & Parry based in Sleaford, Lincolnshire. Inside are 'commandment boards' painted directly onto the walls. Worship continues to be held on the second Sunday of every month.

4. BISHOP NORTON, St Peter's

Opening Times: Contact Church directly for details

St Peter's sits in the heart of the village of Bishop Norton; it is a delightful church containing some fine treasures, a beautifully stained glass east window and three fine bells, as well as a medieval tympanum in the tower wall and an ancient sarcophagus in the vestry.

Denomination: Church of England

nationalchurchestrust.org/church/st-peter-bishop-norton

5. BRATTLEBY, St Cuthbert's

Opening Times: Contact Church directly for details

St Cuthbert's is a small church with Norman features, a striking 12th century tower and arches, fascinating glass, memorials and evidence of early wall paintings. The charming, peaceful churchyard with lawns and trees, creates an atmosphere of a bygone era and has ample outdoor seating to 'sit and stare'. The churchyard also contains the shaft of a Saxon Cross of national importance, said to be one of only three in its original position and the tower contains some of the oldest bells in Lincolnshire, two cast in 1450 and the third in 1600.

Denomination: Church of England

6. CAMMERINGHAM, St Michael's

Opening Times: Please contact Church Wardens prior to visiting

St Michael's Church dates back to Norman times and was once part of a larger structure that no longer exists. A Premonstratensian priory was founded in 1155. The church font is a small marble bowl and is said to date from 1755, there is also a recently restored organ and a beautiful east window. This church is not open all year round but is available by contacting the church wardens prior to visiting. Visit their website for details.

7. CHERRY WILLINGHAM, St Peter & St Paul

Opening Times: Contact the Church for details

St Peter & St Paul is Grade I listed and a wonderful example of Georgian architecture with a beautiful reredos behind the altar. It is built of high quality Ancaster limestone with many of the stones being full of fossils. The modern octagonal lantern was designed by Louis Osman who also designed the coronet for the Prince of Wales.

Denomination: Anglican

LN3 4ES

9. FRIESTHORPE, St Peter

Opening Times: Please contact Church directly

The church dates back to 1285, and originally had a thatched roof -blown off in the gales of 1839. It was re-roofed & renovated in 1841. Our church honours the tragic loss of the five 'Beechey Boys' who were killed in the First World War. The family lived in Friesthorpe, where their father was the rector here. We now have a beautiful stained glass window dedicated to the memory of their loss.

Denomination: Church of England

10. GLENTHAM, St Peter's

Opening Times: 10am - 4pm each Sunday and Wednesday

St Peter's is a Grade I listed building. It is constructed of coursed limestone with a lead roof over the nave and south and north aisles. There are elements from the 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 18th, 19th, 20th & 21st Century. It has a square, unbattered tower with an embattled parapet. A clock was installed in the tower as a war memorial in 1921. There is a complete set of 18th Century box pews in the nave. A stained glass window in the north aisle was designed by Christopher Whall and is in memory of Sir Montague Chomeley who was killed in 1914.

12. HOLTON CUM BECKERING, All Saints

Opening Times: Visit website for contact details

Set in a lovely rural hamlet on the edge of the Lincolnshire Wolds, grade I listed All Saints is a gem of a church, with a wonderful chancel and its connections with Italy.

The oldest part of the church is the lower section of the tower dating from the 13th century. It retains the original narrow tower arch and small lancet window in the west wall and was extended upwards in the 14th century. The mosaic and marble reredos was added in the late 19th century and displays Italian workmanship similar to that found in St Marks, Venice.

13. LANGTON-BY-WRAGBY, St Giles

Opening Times: Visit website for contact details

Situated in the tiniest of hamlets, St Giles is the birthplace of Stephen Langton, Archbishop of Canterbury from 1207-1228 and a central figure in the drafting and signing of Magna Carta in 1215.

Today, St Giles church is a mixture of Victorian and medieval styles. The oldest part is the impressive perpendicular tower, probably dates from the 14th century. The stained glass east window depicts the birth, death and resurrection of Christ. A second stained glass widow depicts Stephen Langton. A visit to the churchyard will see two tombs believed to be those of Crusaders.

17. RAND, St Oswald's

Opening Times: Visit website for contact details

St Oswald's possesses a wonderful array of monuments, both in brass and stone, and is well worth visiting. The broad west tower is home to 15th century gargoyles, as well as two bells, one dated 1715 and marked 'Jesu be our speed', with the larger bell believed to be from the 15th century, marked 'Ave Maria'. The chancel arch is over 500 years old and the head mould of the east window is early 14th century but the communion rail and the choir stalls, are Victorian. You can follow the St Oswald pilgrim trail to Bardney, from here.

18. REEPHAM, St Peter & St Paul

Opening Times: 9am -3.30pm

The church is grade II* listed. It originates from the 13th Century but was substantially rebuilt in the Victorian era by Michael Drury. However columns and arches of the south nave date from the early 13th century and those of the north nave from the 14th century. A major restoration in this century removed many old pews, levelled the floor and added toilets and a servery. An 1892 organ by Coussans is still played.

22. SNARFORD, St Lawrence

Opening Times: Open Daily 10am to 4pm

The rather unremarkable exterior of this small Medieval church conceals the breathtaking surprise of the interior of this wonderful church. St Lawrence has some of the most spectacular memorial sculptures in Lincolnshire. The largest, from the 1580s, features lifesize figures of Sir Thomas St Paul and his wife, members of a dynasty of rich lawyer-politicians. Sir Thomas reclines dressed in armour with a gold chain round his neck his wife lies beside him elegantly dressed with a ruff and headdress.

3. GAINSBOROUGH, All Saints

Opening Times: Tuesday to Saturday 10am - 2pm

The main body of the church was rebuilt, between 1734 and 1744, in the Georgian classical style, designed by Francis Smith of Warwick and greatly influenced by James Gibbs, the designer of St Martins in Trafalgar Square. Also of interest is the Rollett tomb stone, which once stood in the church yard, marking the grave of Captain Cook's sailmaker who was born in the town. The Organ, by Walkers of Ipswich, is a fine example of a manual instrument that takes a prominent place in church music. A Café can be found at the west end of the church, underneath the tower.

8. MORTON, St. Paul's

Opening Times: Contact the church for opening times

St Paul's welcomes visitors to view its collection of ten windows designed by Sir Edward Burne-Jones, who worked on them with William Morris. The carpet in front of the altar is also of a William Morris design. It has a font of Frosterley marble surmounted by a fine canopy and an Augustus Gern organ built in 1891. The organ case is a wonderful piece of craftsmanship. For individual or group visits contact tourism officer on 01427 810334.

9. PILHAM, All Saints

Opening Times: Only open for monthly services

All Saints Pilham is believed to be one of the smallest churches in England to include a vestry, font and apse. Comments from visitors often use the words "quaint", "peaceful", "stunning" and "small but perfect". We keep displays compact to let the building speak for itself but there will be flowers and some Church records available for visitors to view.

10. SCOTTER, St Peter

Opening Times: Open weekdays, except during school holidays. Closed weekends other than for services.

St. Peter's is an 11th Century church, with entry through a Norman arch. 13th century arches are in the north wall, which was heightened in the 15th century to include clerestory windows. The font is 14th century with decoration on all eight sides. There are traces of an access doorway to a pre-reformation rood gallery. There is a rare 1848 James Harrison clock in its original case and Elizabethan 'Ringers Rhymes' in the 16th Century tower.

Denomination: Church of England

11. SCOTTON, St Genewys

Opening Times: 9am - 6pm (dusk in winter)

13th century church. The unusual name thought to be derived from St Genesius, a 7th century Bishop of Clermont Ferrand in France - portrait in a 19th century stained glass chancel window. Features of interest include a 13th century effigy of a knight; a C15th effigy of a lady and tomb stone. Wall memorial to John Morley, Rector 1711-1731, a patron of John Wesley. Hatchment of Fredricks' family. There is plenty of parking in the Village Hall, by the church.

Denomination: Church of England

12. STOW, St Mary's

Opening Times: Open all year round, 8.30am to 7pm (or dusk if earlier)

The internationally renowned cruciform Anglo-Saxon Minster Church of St Mary dates to 975AD, with a Norman chancel completed c1150AD. The Victorian restoration was sensitive to the original construction. Important features include Viking graffiti from 10th/11th century, a 12th Century wall painting depicting the life and death in 1170AD of Thomas Beckett, Archbishop of Canterbury, and a font from 1300AD. Enjoy the peace and quiet, reflect on the skills of our forebears.

13. UPTON CUM KEXBY, All Saints

Opening Times: 10am - 4pm Daily

All Saints Church is a Church of many periods, from Anglo Saxon to Victorian. The complex history of expansion, contraction and restoration of this Church can be traced externally, with its pre 1066 'Herring Bone' masonry and its Georgian tower for example, as well as within its bright interior. Just one of the items in the interior which is worthy of note, is the display of 90 plus Kneelers, embroidered from 1993 onwards. Please note that there is no parking in the Rose and Crown car park.

15. WILLINGHAM BY STOW, St Helen's

Opening Times: The church is open during BST 10am to 4pm. Closed in winter months but access through the contact with the wardens

St. Helen's stands in the centre of the village and forms an integral part of the community. Whilst of Norman origin, the body of the church was almost entirely rebuilt in 1880 and the tower is thought to date back to the 14th century. It has several old stained glass windows and two modern ones. The church is used for regular Sunday worship and for special events. Six bells are rung weekly and the church has a choir of mixed voices.

Lincolnshire Wolds and surrounding villages

View of Normanby le Wold, from The Viking Way.

The Lincolnshire Wolds are bursting with rich heritage, charming market towns and historical churches aplenty.

Nestling on a hillside at the northern edge of the Lincolnshire Wolds, Caistor is just a 40-minute drive from Lincoln. With its quaint marketplace, fringed by quirky independent shops and cafes, it is popular with walkers, with the Viking Way running through the town.

A small attractive market town on the western fringe of the Lincolnshire Wolds, Market Rasen is composed mainly of red brick buildings, with the historic centre of town being largely Georgian and Victorian. The parish church is medieval, but was much restored in the Victorian period.

The highest point in Lincolnshire is marked by a Trig Pillar, close to the village of Normanby le Wold, where you can also find St Peter's Church, in a beautiful location with great views.

1. BUSLINGTHORPE, St Michael's

Opening Times: Open Daily 10am to 4pm

St Michael's Church stands framed by trees surrounding the part-moated farm to the east. It is one of the few buildings remaining on the site of a deserted Medieval village. Apart from its square tower, the church was rebuilt in brick in 1835 and hides treasures within: two extraordinary fourteenth-century monuments to the local De Buslingthorpe family - one a brass effigy of a knight in armour on a tomb chest, showing the clothes worn in battle at that time.

3. CAISTOR, St Peter & St Paul

Opening Times: Open daily from 9am - 3pm

The present church of St Peter & St Paul dates mainly from the 11th century onwards, though the lower part of the massive west tower is probably Saxon. There are many fine features worth seeing within the church. The nave with its beautiful south doorway with carved arches with nail head carving, the south door with its splendid iron hinges is from the 13th century. The clerestory and side aisles were added a century later and the chancel was rebuilt in the 19th century. Discover fine windows and a wonderful collection of kneelers.
